Interactions Special Issue : Somewhere in the future

Ever since it was created in 1972, the University of Technology at Compiègne (UTC) has always stood at the frontier between knowledge and imagination. Widening the realm of “possible” worlds to explore, bolstering them with new knowledge, has always been the prime concern of the UTC’s research scientists and the academic teaching staff. Applied science here become blue sky research, outlining tomorrow’s technologies in a sensitive
